Keywords

Municipal and provincial taxes, regional taxes, taxcompetences and restrictions

Position of the course

The importance of local taxes has increased considerably over the last years, given the fact that local authorities are looking for new sources of income in order to finance the expenses due to extended competences.

The jurisdiction indicates that also the disputes are increasing, for which an insight in the matter is necessary. The same goes for the regional fiscality. The regions dispose as well of a fiscal autonomy which is used to introduce new taxes.

Besides, a lot of federal taxes have been assigned to the regions.

The purpose of this element in the training consists in obtaining insights in the fiscal competences of the local and regional authorities, the restrictions of these competences, the rules regarding the establishment and recovery/collection of the taxes, etc...
