Training extension

Position of the course
The aim is to give students the opportunity to be confronted with practical working situations outside the academic world during an extended period. At the same time it is a training in how to adapt to new situations.

Contents
The extended training is done in the same company where the first training was already performed. Students will be engaged in normal working activities at a level corresponding to their final degree. After finishing the training students will write a report and the report will be defended for a jury. In the report students will pay attention not only to the practical work they performed but also to aspects such as the economic position of the company, the strategy and management of the company etc.

Initial competences

Final competences
1. acquire a better insight into the labour market
2. to accomplish a well-defined task in an independent way
3. to write a technical-scientific report
4. to orally present and defend a written report
