

Italian Linguistics: Specific Problems II (A000028)

Due to Covid 19, the education and evaluation methods may vary from the information displayed in the schedules and course details. Any changes will be communicated on Ufora.

Course size (nominal values; actual values may depend on programme)
Credits 5.0 Study time 150 h Contact hrs 45.0 h

Course offerings and teaching methods in academic year 2020-2021

B (semester 2)	Italian	Gent
			lecture	15.0 h
			self-reliant study activities	12.5 h
			group work	2.5 h
			microteaching	2.5 h
			seminar	5.0 h
			online group work	5.0 h
			online lecture	2.5 h

Lecturers in academic year 2020-2021

Groothuis, Kim LW06 lecturer-in-charge

Offered in the following programmes in 2020-2021	crdts	offering
Master of Science in Teaching in Languages (main subject Linguistics and Literature)	5	B
Master of Arts in Linguistics and Literature (main subject Dutch - Italian)	5	B
Master of Arts in Linguistics and Literature (main subject English - Italian)	5	B
Master of Arts in Linguistics and Literature (main subject French - Italian)	5	B
Master of Arts in Linguistics and Literature (main subject German - Italian)	5	B
Master of Arts in Linguistics and Literature (main subject Latin - Italian)	5	B
Master of Arts in Historical Linguistics and Literature	5	B
Exchange Programme Linguistics and Literature	5	B

Teaching languages

Italian

Keywords

Dialectology, history of the dialects of Italy, diachronic phonology and morphosyntax

Position of the course

This specialized course deepens the students' understanding of the linguistic reflection on the Italian language and other varieties spoken in Italy.

The course focuses on:

- 1) the major dialectal divisions within Italy;
- 2) the principal phonological and morphosyntactic changes from Latin to Italo-Romance;

The course also discusses the history of the relation between dialect and Tuscan/standard Italian.

During this course, students will also further develop their language skills.

- Reading skills: reading scientific articles and chapters;
- Listening skills: listening to the lectures;
- Writing skills: writing the research paper;
- Speaking skills: oral discussion in class, presentation of research project;

Contents

The following topics will be discussed during the course:

1. Introduction: plurilingualism in Italy and major dialectal divisions
2. Northern Italian dialects
3. Southern Italian dialects
4. Central Italian dialects and Tuscan
5. Other (Italo?-)Romance languages spoken in Italy
6. Regional and popular Italian
7. Microteaching: small study of (a) dialect feature(s)

Initial competences

- Familiarity with the basic notions of linguistic analysis (in phonology, morphology, and syntax);
- Thorough knowledge of the Italian language (expected competence in Italian: B2+).

Final competences

- 1 The student reaches the C1 proficiency level.
The student can understand a wide range of demanding, longer clauses, and recognize implicit meaning. They can express ideas fluently and spontaneously without much obvious searching for expressions. They can use language flexibly and effectively for social, academic and professional purposes. They can produce clear, well-structured, detailed text on complex subjects, showing controlled use of organizational patterns, connectors and cohesive devices.
  - Reading skills: independent reading of articles and chapters; ppt presentations (self-study; lectures; tutorials; microteaching)
  - Listening skills: lectures; understanding the questions during the seminars / permanent evaluation moments (seminars; self study; microteaching; seminar) guided exercises)
  - Writing skills: paper; ppt / handout for the microteaching session
  - Speaking skills: oral discussion of texts (tutorials; microteaching; oral final examination)
- 2 Insight into the theory: the student uses the linguistic terminology correctly. He/she has a knowledge of the major dialectal divisions of the Italian dialects and of the principal features of Northern, Central and Southern Italian dialects, and the ability to recognize them in texts;
- 3 Insight into the theory: the student can relate the content of the course to insights acquired in other linguistics courses.
- 4 Application of the theory: the student can independently analyse a text or data and can explain the most important linguistic features.
- 5 Research skills: the student can write a structured paper in which he / she situates, presents and analyses data.
- 6 Research skills: the student can independently search for, consult and critically report on scientific sources.

Conditions for credit contract

Access to this course unit via a credit contract is determined after successful competences assessment

Conditions for exam contract

This course unit cannot be taken via an exam contract

Teaching methods

Group work, lecture, microteaching, seminar, self-reliant study activities, online group work, online lecture

Extra information on the teaching methods

- Team work: preparation of presentations; discussion of the presentation in the classroom with lecturer and fellow students
- Lectures: introductory and deepening classes on the subject of the course. During the lectures the students are supposed to take notes in addition to textbook and study materials provided.
- Seminar: during this type of lecture the lecturer gives examples of analysis of dialect texts/data. Dialect texts will be discussed and analysed in class.
- (Guided) self-study: students must independently study/analyze some texts.
- Microteaching: The students study a subject or dialect and give a group presentation. They get a number of bibliographic references from the lecturer and they are expected to deepen the bibliographic research independently. They will prepare a short questionnaire as a group and they will interview (a) dialect speaker(s) together. The presentation is designed to discuss the data collected and to analyse these data with the lecturer and the fellow students. Students are supposed to approach the study subject in a critical manner. The students work both individually (through self-study) and in group (group work): the development of a collective presentation is intended as an exercise of teamwork.

** Because of COVID19 modified forms of work can be used if necessary. ****

Learning materials and price

- Loporcaro, Michele. 2009. Profilo linguistico dei dialetti italiani. Bari: Laterza. 24 euro
- extra material (scientific papers etc.) distributed in class and/or on Ufora
- Powerpoint presentations (downloadable after class on Ufora)

References

Loporcaro, Michele. 2009. Profilo linguistico dei dialetti italiani. Bari: Laterza.

Course content-related study coaching

Specific questions can be asked during the lecturer's office hours (by appointment).

Evaluation methods

continuous assessment

Examination methods in case of periodic evaluation during the first examination period

Participation, assignment

Examination methods in case of periodic evaluation during the second examination period

Participation, assignment

Examination methods in case of permanent evaluation

Participation, assignment

Possibilities of retake in case of permanent evaluation

examination during the second examination period is possible

Extra information on the examination methods

Continuous assessment

- Microteaching/presentation during the course/Microteaching (30%): small group presentation on the data collected (in the same group) by interviewing a dialect speaker. The data should be used to test a hypothesis or answer a research question. The following competences will be evaluated: insights in the theory, application of the theory, research skills; spoken language skills.
- Written paper (60%): 4000-5000 word research paper about a dialect or dialect feature, based on the research carried out in groups for the presentation (possibly drawing comparisons with other groups' results). The following competences will be evaluated: insights in the theory, application of the theory, research skills; written language skills.
- Active participation in classes and extra activities, such as guest lectures and exercises (10%).

Calculation of the examination mark

- 60% written research paper
- 30% microteaching
- 10% participation in class and short written reports on two guest lectures from the series Discovering Linguistics - Linguistic Discoveries (<https://www.dlld.ugent.be/what-is-dlld/>)

Facilities for Working Students

- Possible exemption from educational activities requiring student attendance with an alternative assignment instead.
  - Possibility of rescheduling of the examination to a different time.
  - Feedback can be given by appointment during and after office hours.
- Working students can arrange a personalized study programme with the lecturer. The program will include scientific articles, book or handbook chapters that can be autonomously studied.