Keywords

Ancient Greek, literature, epic

Position of the course

In this advanced course important poetic genres are studied and students are taught how to approach ancient literature in an academic way.

An important objective of the course is to have the students read canonical texts, both in Greek and in translation.

Contents

Literary texts from some of the canonical genres: complete texts (e.g. a tragedy; a comedy) and/or long representative parts (e.g. some books from epic). Study of the cultural and historical context; reading and interpretation of the Greek text.

2020-21: Epic, especially Iliad. The Odyssey and later epic (Apollonius, Quintus, Nonnus) will be dealt with in the last weeks of the course.

Initial competences

To have completed the courses Classics in Translation, Ancient Greek Literature I, Ancient Greek linguistics I and Literary Theory, or to have acquired the necessary skills by other means.

Students are expected to have a good knowledge of Attic and Homeric Greek (morphology and syntax; metrics).

Final competences

- 1 To have knowledge of the historical meaning and situation of the main classical literary genres.
- 2 To be able to use methods of literary analysis.
- 3 To be able to explain and recognise the metrical, stylistic and thematic particularities of canonical ancient Greek texts.
- 4 To be able to understand and interpret Greek literary texts.
- 5 To be able to independently study Greek literary texts, making use of standard academic tools.
- 6 To be able to write an academic paper.
