Position of the course

This advanced course is meant to assist students in conceiving, planning, researching, writing and revising a BA paper ("onderzoekstaak") in the field of literature in English.

Contents

The course will address research, writing and presentation skills and resources in the field of literature in English. Students will be required to complete several assignments for the seminar as preparation for their BA paper: Students are encouraged to reflect on the comments and advice received from the teachers, the student assigned to respond to their paper, fellow students and/or other members of the audience, and to revise their BA paper in accordance with any new insights they may have gained from this during the time remaining before the submission deadline. Students will receive a detailed calendar of the planned activities at the start of the course.

COVID-19: as a result of the Corona crisis, the following adjustment will be made once for AJ 20-21: all lecture sessions will be conducted exclusively online and will be recorded.

Initial competences

- To have successfully completed the standard course Ba2 or to have acquired the necessary skills by other means.
- To have advanced knowledge of the characteristics of English literary texts and the historical functioning of literature in English
- To have as yet limited experience of independent research into scholarly problems.

Final competences

- 1 To gain insight into the specific demands of academic research into aspects of literature in English
- 2 To be able to research a (small-scale) problem
- 3 To be able to report research results, both orally and in writing
- 4 To be able to critically assess the research results of others
